PRESIDENT PASSES THROUGH SOUTHERN OHIO TOWARD OMAHA

Special Train Fails To Hit Xenia—Coolidge To Address Vets

Aboard the President's Special Train enroute to Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5.—With nearly twenty-four hours travel still ahead of him, President Coolidge today relaxed in his palatial car, shed the cares of office and enjoyed the scenery of Southern Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, through which his train sped.

Out ahead lies a big day tomorrow with a speech to the American Legion a luncheon and a parade review.

With a book in hand, he spends his time in the observation parlor of his car now reading, then absorbing the details of the countryside and evidences of its prosperity. Problems of state such as air mail, shipping board and cabinet changes are packed away in brief cases for reference, perhaps later in the trip.

No political conference of any kind were scheduled on the outgoing trip for there are no politicians aboard. Only two persons on the train are not attached to his official entourage and they are Major General John A. LeJeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, who is due to speak to the convention and Mrs. James A. Drain, wife of the legion commander.

To avoid giving the trip a political complexion, the train skirts the two big cities enroute, Cincinnati and St. Louis passing them by detours around the edges.

"By taking the present route, he touches virgin country regions through which he has not traveled since becoming president.

At Omaha, the president will be confronted with the war veterans in full strength and curiously enough at a time when a change in the secretary of war is due to be made. It is anticipated that in this atmosphere he will feel the desire of the American Legion for appointment of one of their number. It is possible that those supporting the boom for Hanford McNider, late legion commander, may get his ear.

All this is in the future, however, and today the president seems far away from such problems. Mrs. Coolidge spends some of her time knitting and some chatting with the only other woman on the trip, Mrs. Drain.

Chillicothe, O., Oct. 5.—Running on schedule the special train bearing President and Mrs. Coolidge and the President's retinue to the American Legion National Convention at Omaha arrived here at 6:40 o'clock this morning and departed 8 minutes later, after changing engines.

The president was sleeping and 200 Chillicotheans who swarmed the station to see the executive saw only a few secret service men and newspaper correspondents.

The expected brief visit of President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge in Xenia early Monday morning enroute to Omaha, Neb., where the Chief Executive is scheduled to attend the American Legion Convention Tuesday, failed to materialize, and a number of Xenians who gathered at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station were unrewarded for their wait.

It was first thought the president's itinerary would bring the special train through Xenia on the way to St. Louis. A number of Dayton people were expected to motor to this city Monday when it became known the president was to stop and receive congratulations.

Accompanied by a number of newspaper men and secret service officers, the president's special was routed over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad through Chillicothe and thence to St. Louis, falling altogether to touch Xenia on the trip.

OLD COACH DRIVER TAKES FINAL TRIP

Akron, O., Oct. 5.—David Nathan Spellman, 75, has gone on his last great trip after sixty-five years spent in Akron and vicinity.

A tiny, twisting road winding through hills and valleys felt the steady beat of hoofs as six horses stirred up the dust on the stagecoach trail from Akron to Cleveland, as Spellman, the first man who sought the trail, was carried to his resting place.

Spellman moved from his birth place, Newark, to Akron while a boy. One of his first positions was driving the stage between Cleveland and Akron. But with the coming of highways and automobiles he retired from his profession, and became a building contractor.

BANDITS BUSY

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—Three bandits held up Walter Harris, 21, cashier of the Rail Light Ticket office here last night and escaped with $652.

Road House Proprietor Says He Shot Trio When Five Bandits Attempted To Rob Place—Police Probe Feud Clew

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—Three men were slain in a roadside resort near here today in what police believe may have been the re-opening of a gangland feud. Two of the slain men were known police characters and gangsters while the third has not been identified. The two identified are Vincent Goode and Don Hoffman.

According to the proprietor of the roadhouse, a man known only as Quinn, five men sauntered into the place after the night's revelries had ceased and attempted to hold him up. He claims to have reached for his revolver, shot the three men and then routed the other two.

The proprietor has been arrested and is being quizzed.

Police say that the resort was a former hangout for the underworld gang leaders who for several years terrorized St. Louis County.

BALLOONISTS SAFE AFTER RESCUE FROM BOAT IN LAKE ERIE

Airmen Exhausted As Steamer Locates Frail Canvas Boat

Toledo, O., Oct. 5.—Rescued from the lashing waters of Lake Erie, two Detroit balloonists forced down while competing in the Detroit News Trophy event, were safely back in Detroit today.

The airman, W. C. Taylor, pilot and K. W. Warren, aide, were compelled to abandon their balloon at 3 A. M. Sunday. They floated about in an inflated, frail canvas boat until rescued by the steamer A. M. Byers, until 11 A. M.

The balloonists were brought to Toledo in an exhausted condition. Later they were revived sufficiently to leave for Detroit. The race began Saturday.

The balloon was one constructed by Taylor and Warren. When over Lake Erie at an altitude of 5200 feet they encountered a heavy electrical storm. Fearing the bag would ignite, the men opened the gas valve and allowed the sphere to settle on the Lake.

Waves were running eight feet high when they struck the water, they said. The balloon basket rode the waves until the airman succeeded in inflating the emergency, canvas boat.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for the condition of National Banks as of September 28.

LABOR FEDERATION RETURNS TO POLICY OF OLD NEUTRALITY

Third Party Move Dead—Body Scores Communism

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 5.—The American Federation of Labor will enter political campaigns this fall throughout the country but will keep away from third party movements.

Harking back to its old policy of refusing to align itself with parties and that labor's interest can best be served by freedom from party affiliation, the report of the executive board of the federation convention outlined a non-partisan political program.

"The executive council believes that as a result of its non-partisan political policy the launching of a third party movement has been proved wasted effort and injurious to the desire to elect candidates with favorable records," the report reads.

"Experience, therefore taught labor that if it be successful politically it must continue to follow its non-partisan policy."

The executive board urges organization of women workers; maintenance of wage scales, opposition to communism, a determined fight against company union and against employers insurance and employee ownership.

Commenting on the death of Samuel Gompers the late president of the federation, the report said it was the "crucial event" of the last year.

Data on membership showed the Federation now has a paid up membership roll of 2,878,297, an increase of 12,318 over last year. It is the first increase in membership made since 1920.

The report devotes much space to the subject of communism.

"Among the pitfalls threatening labor unionists," the report reads, "are communist organizations and activities operating under names admitted designed to suggest identification with the Bona Fide trade union movement. By such deceptions, a number of trade unionists and labor organizations have been misled into supporting efforts seeking to overthrow our unions and our purposes."

"Whether sincere in their belief in the need for world revolution or only maliciously promoting trouble, Communists seek first the overthrow of the Bona Fide labor government."

The report listed a number of alleged communist organizations and warned union members against them.

Discussing company union, the report declared their "expressed and definite purpose" is to prevent organization of workers into trade union. Employee insurance and employee ownership were placed under the same head.

Use of the injunction in labor disputes was denounced. Other matters covered by the report included: Opposition to the sales tax on the ground that it would relieve the well-to-do from taxation and place the burden on those least able to bear it.

Urged spirited support of child labor legislation.

Reports progress in the formation of a union labor life insurance company.

Advises caution with regard to labor banks saying that "to operate a bank efficiently requires something more than financial assets."

Rides Out Storm

It may have been a smile of relief that the American Ambassador to Berlin, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, wore when he alighted from the plane at Leipzig. For he had flown from Berlin in a terrific storm that tried the mettle of the craft, its pilot and passenger.

FIFTY THOUSAND AT OPENING OF LEGION CONVENTION MONDAY

Forty and Eight May Endorse Policy of Billy Mitchell

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5.—Fifty thousand Bubbles, almost ritous in their gaiety, were on hand today for the opening of the seventh national convention of the American Legion.

Another 50,000 delegates and visitors are expected for the visit of President and Mrs. Coolidge, who are now en route.

Although the main delegates were having too much fun to be bothered about serious matters, considerable interest was attached to what action the legionnaires may take on several organization and national issues.

There is the Mitchell affair, for instance. Col. William Mitchell's daring in risking his rank to tell the war department that its attitude on aviation is "boneheaded," has fired the imagination of a vast number of the legionnaires.

The Forty and Eight, fun making section of the legion, may bring up a resolution demanding endorsement of Mitchell's fight.

PREDICTION OF DEATH COMES TRUE

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—Coroner Schaefer left for Columbus today to consult with state health authorities in connection with the death of Miss Vesta Strome, 14, of New Carlisle, who died Saturday as she had predicted.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Strome, prophesied several weeks ago that she would die Saturday.

Coroner Schaefer said a microscopic examination of the body will be made.

Dr. A. A. Detrick, who attended Miss Strome, said she apparently was in good health 40 minutes before she died. The physician was unable to determine what caused her death.

WEATHER CONTINUES TO HANDICAP EFFORT TO LOCATE AVIATOR

Searching Planes Are Hindered—Believe Ames Is Dead

Bellefonte, Pa., Oct. 3.—With continued bad weather overhanging the Allegheny mountains where Charles H. Ames, missing air mail pilot is believed to be, searchers have been handicapped until hope that he will be found alive virtually has vanished.

If the skies clear today, six army planes, four air mail machines and a commercial plane are ready to take off in search of Ames, who failed to reach the air station here on schedule time, just before midnight Thursday.

Two hunters near Stone Mountain, 14 miles north of Huntington reported they heard a crash at the time Ames' plane is believed to have fallen and a general search was begun in that direction.

Clarion and Venango counties also have been the scene of search parties, tramping the tangled underbrush and through the thickets of the mountains.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—Hope that Charles Ames, missing New York to Cleveland air mail pilot lost near Bellefonte, Pa., will be found alive was virtually abandoned today.

Inclement weather again forced searchers to abandon the hunt. If the skies clear later, six army planes, four mail planes and one commercial plane will take off for a final search.

The air search will center around Clarion, Pa., working westward to Bellefonte. A farmer has reported he saw Ames pass over Clarion at 1:45 p. m., Friday, the morning the aviator was reported missing.

CHILEAN ARMY IN ATTEMPTED REVOLT

Buenos Aires, Oct. 5.—Three regiments of the Chilean army were implicated in an attempted revolt designed to replace ex-president Alessandri in power, according to special reports from Santiago today.

Alessandri is being kept virtually a prisoner in his own home, by order of the present government.

The report concerning the imprisonment of the former president of Chile was unconfirmed. Yesterday it was officially announced that "two officers of the Santiago Garrison tried to surprise those in command of the regiments there, declaring the moment had arrived to restore Alessandri to power."

The officers were arrested and tried immediately.

CROSS COUNTRY IN SMALL MOTOR BOAT

New York, Oct. 5.—John E. Hoag and Frank S. Wilton, of Los Angeles, chugged down the Hudson River yesterday to the landing of the Columbia Yacht Club, having completed a 5,600 mile trip across the continent in a motorboat.

After shipping their boat to Astoria, Ore., they began their journey in the 18-foot, two horsepower craft on May 13, at the mouth of the Columbia river. There was only one portage—400 miles across the Rockies to Fort Benton, Mont. The water ways traversed included the Missouri River, the Mississippi, the Illinois, the Joliet Canal, the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence, Lake Champlain and the Hudson.

FORD WILL BUILD PLANT IN GERMANY

Berlin, Oct. 5.—Heavy Ford, American automobile maker, is reliably represented to have concluded arrangements for construction of a factory in Germany.

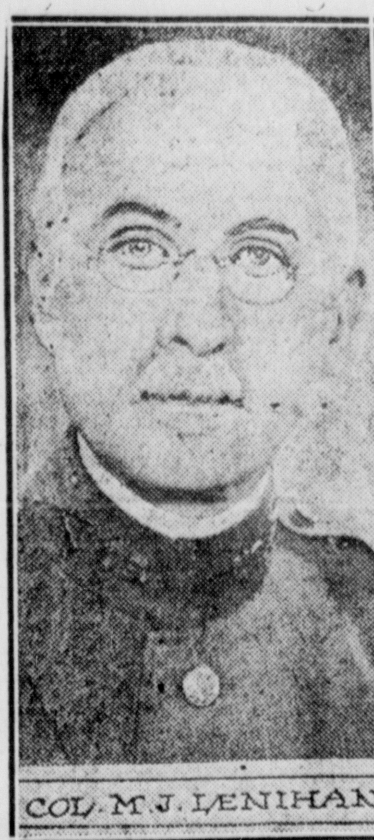

The manufacturer's inquiries have confirmed his impression that it will be more profitable to make Ford cars here than to export them to Germany.

It is understood the proposed factory will be supplied with materials from Germany's industries.

DAYTON WILL HONOR "NICK" LONGWORTH

Dayton, Oct. 5.—Five hundred citizens are expected to attend the luncheon arranged by the chamber of commerce in honor of Nicholas Longworth here tomorrow when he visits this city and inspects the airfields. It is expected Senator Simeon D. Fess will be a member of the visiting party which also will include Congressman C. C. Kerns and A. E. B. Stephens.

BASEBALL IS READY FOR OPENING SERIES GAME ON WEDNESDAY

Pirates Favorites By Slight Margin In Early Betting

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Oct. 5.—With all the surprises and disappointments of the 1925 season, recorded in a closed book, baseball today was ready for the first game of the world's series between the Champion Washington Senators and the Pittsburgh Pirates, starting Wednesday in Pittsburgh.

New York's delegation of officials, scribes and those fans who have money enough to qualify as regulars, left to make sure of promised hotel rooms and get in all the preliminary conversation without which a series never can be started.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League headed the New York delegation which included John J. McGraw, manager of the former champion Giants and Hughey Jennings, his first assistant. Others in the party were Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees and his reformed prodigal, Babe Ruth.

Opinions identified the speakers. Those who picked the Senators were American Leaguers and those who favored the Pirates were from the National League.

Pittsburgh was still a six to five favorite in the little betting that was done in the financial district. There was no Washington money in sight.

Opinion as to the length of the series is just as evenly divided as the guesses on the winner. Some figure that the championship will be decided in five games while others believe that it will go the limit of seven games. It looks certain that it will take seven games to decide unless the Pirates should run wild and overwhelm the Senators in the first two games.

HEAVY SEAS HALT RECOVERY OF BODIES

Newport, R. I., Oct. 5.—Because of heavy seas, nothing further can be done today toward the recovery of bodies from the submarine S-51, according to a wireless message received by naval communications here from Admiral H. H. Christy, who is aboard the U. S. S. Camden at the scene.

Admiral Christy said he had ordered Salvage operations suspended indefinitely pending more favorable weather conditions.

CAN'T FIND JOB FOR MILLIONAIRE

Dayton, O., Oct. 5.—Picking a job for a millionaire at the workhouse here is not an easy task.

Charles Castle, of Cleveland, sentenced to two years for dodging income taxes, has been at the "works" a week, but no assignment has been given him.

Authorities are playing no favorites but they want to place Castle in a job for which he may be fitted.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Mt. Vernon, O., Oct. 5.—Clark Klink, 33, Newark, was killed by a train near here today while enroute to work with Carper Sticker.

Both men sat down on the tracks to rest. Sticker heard the train and jumped to safety. Klink was mangled.

BASIS FOR PROPOSED COURT MARTIAL MADE KNOWN TO EX-CHIEF

PN-9-1 Pilot Urges Separate Budget For Flying Service

Washington, Oct. 5.—Colonel "Billy" Mitchell was called to the War Department this morning and informed officially of charges upon which his court-martial will be based.

The air officer who started the furore over the nation's air defense was received by Col. C. A. Nugent, acting for Inspector General Helmich and they went into conference.

While Nugent was informing Mitchell which portions of his San Antonio statement the department took exceptions to, the air board re-opened its hearings.

A re-organization of the existing naval air service to provide for a separate budget and control of the air branch by flying officers was recommended to the board by Lieut. Byron J. Connel, pilot of the PN-9-1. Connel said his views on possible improvements were in line with those of Commander John Rodgers, leader of the unsuccessful Hawaiian flight.

"Aviation must have men in control of its carriers and stations who have had experience," he said.

Connell told of the Hawaiian flight and said the PN boats "stood up remarkably well."

Washington, Oct. 5.—While another group of navy pilots are registering their protests against the existing naval aviation system to the special air craft board today, Colonel "Billy" Mitchell was apprised formally of charges upon which a court martial will be based.

After having established that the fiery Colonel made the statement, which Mitchell will again admit, the inspector-general will submit a report to acting secretary of war Davis for the machinery of his court-martial to be set in motion.

The airboard will hear further criticism of the existing naval air service from about ten navy air men.

Tomorrow Major General Mason Patrick, chief of the army air service and Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, navy air head, will be called for their testimony and cross-examination.

FIFTEEN PLANES COMPLETE FLIGHT

Detroit, Oct. 5.—Fifteen out of seventeen commercial airplanes which left here a week ago on the Ford reliability tour, were back at the Ford airport today after successfully completing a grueling flight of more than 2,000 miles through the midwest.

The competing planes miraculously weathered a severe electrical storm on their Sunday afternoon flight from Cleveland, arriving under exceptionally adverse conditions shortly before dark.

Although speed was a secondary requirement, it was announced that the Ford all-metal monoplane led the field with an average speed of 101.5 miles per hour for the course. A Fokker three engine monoplane registered 98.5 and a Curtiss biplane was clocked in 88.

In point of "reliability" it was announced unofficially that ten of the entries in the tour successfully completed within the requirements.

One machine was wrecked in Missouri and another that left Cleveland on the last leg Sunday, was forced down by the storm.

BROKEN HOMES ARE CAUSE OF CRIME

Columbus, Oct. 5.—The motivating force behind 80 per cent of America's crime, can be laid at the door of broken homes, the Rev. E. E. McFarland, pastor of the Hillcrest Baptist Church here, believes.

"Universal marriage and divorce laws are the only remedy for our national scandal—crime," Rev. McFarland declared, addressing his congregation last night.

"It is costing about $10,000,000,000 a year. The cause is not ignorance nor prohibition but broken homes."

"There should be more stringent divorce laws that would make it unlawful for a person divorced to marry before five years have expired."

"It should be a prison offense for any man or woman to break up a home. People must be taught, some how, to mind their own business."

THREE KILLED IN FASCISTI RIOTS

Florence, Oct. 5.—Three persons were killed, one is dying and scores were wounded in fighting here between the Fascisti and socialists which followed the murder of a Fascist named Luporini by a socialist railroad worker, Benicini. The latter's body riddled with bullets by enraged Fascisti was found later.

Calm was restored today and the Fascisti have received strict orders to discontinue reprisals.

WEDNESDAY WILL BE BARGAIN DAY AS WELL AS DOUBLE VOTE DAY IN MERCHANTS' CONTEST

Good news for participants in the South Detroit Street Merchants' Association contest is contained in the announcement that Wednesday will be "double vote day" at all stores entered in the association.

Money spent in those stores Wednesday will be double-barreled as far as the contest is concerned, because it will not only bring down bargains for the day's shopping but will also result in twice as many votes being issued for the amount spent.

"Double Vote Day" means just this, merchants explain: for all purchases made at stores in the association, tickets calling for twice that amount will be issued. These tickets count for votes in the contest in which a handsome Willys-Knight coupe sedan is the capital prize with cash amounts for those who finish near the top.

With the contest well under way, return of votes to George Geyer, secretary, shows contestants are falling over themselves in their eagerness to be among the prize winners when the contest closes, December 24. Winners will find prizes offered by the association will serve as handsome Christmas gifts coming on the eve of the gift day.

Foullarity of the contest is based on the fact that contestants can compete by merely spending their money for the necessities they must have. Stores in the association include The Hutchison and Gibney company, The Criterion clothing store, the Moser Shoe Store, Babb's Hardware Store, The Stiles Coal Company, The Davis Oil Company, the Geyer Book Store, the M. A. Ross grocery, the Valet Press Shop and Coates' Barber Shop.

A survey of the list shows there is no conflict in the kind or type of business while all serve the public in a necessary way. As now is the fall buying season, when people must supply their winter needs as to clothing for both men and women, shoes and coal the contest is particularly timely. Gasoline makes the motor go, and even the women now have to have barber work. Contestants find this a timely period to fill hardware needs, get winter clothes cleaned and pressed and it is the time of year when reading and indoor amusements become essential. And what contestant does not need groceries?

For this reason the contest has probably been enriched by more active participants and more interest than any other contest could have inspired yet without creating a hectic furor of work or involving any political schemes designed to win the capital prize.

To make Wednesday doubly attractive to those interested in the contest, the merchants in the association are making it a special bargain day. Bargains during the fall buying season are rare enough but when double the amount of votes is offered for purchases that day, merchants believe the middle of the week will become a more popular shopping time than the week end.

All businesses in the association are co-operating in the bargain plan as well as the double vote proposition, so that the day affords the opportunity to "kill two birds with one stone"—satisfy needs at bargain prices and gain a big boost at the same time on the drive for the big automobile prize.

ASHWORTH-STOLL WEDDING SATURDAY

A pretty fall wedding took place Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ashworth of Christiansburg, O., when their daughter, Pauline, became the bride of Mr. L. L. Stoll of Springfield, O. The Rev. M. I. Comfort of Dayton, officiated.

Miss Ruth Deuling, Dayton, cousin of the bride sang "I Love You Truly" and "Dawning" preceding the ceremony.

The Lohengrin wedding march ushered in the bridal procession. The flower girl, Laurell Dietz of Springfield, niece of the bridegroom, entered first, carrying a basket of pink rosebuds and fern. She wore a frock of white voile with tiny ruffles on the skirt and sleeves and little bows of pink ribbon on each shoulder.

Mrs. Eulalie Bauer of Dayton, O., as bridesmaid, entered next wearing a gown of powder-blue and orchid georgette with white slippers and hose. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds tied with orchid tulle.

The bride entered with her father. She was gowned in white georgette over Dutchess satin and lace. Her bridal veil which fell to the floor was arranged cap-fashion and held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and white alysum with showers of ribbon tied with white tulle. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearl beads.

The bride and her father were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Harry Butler of Springfield, and the officiating minister. The double ring ceremony was used, while Mrs. Wilfred Faulkner, a sorority sister of the bride, played "O Perfect Love."

Refreshments followed the ceremony and when the bride's cake was cut Miss Lucille Beatty, and Miss Dorothy Hickman found the ring and heart, respectively.

After the ceremony and refreshments the bride and bridegroom left for a short trip, their destination kept secret from their friends. The bride wore as her traveling costume, a small blue camilla coat, trimmed in grey squirrel with accessories to match.

Mrs. Ashworth, mother of the bride, who received the guests, wore a gown of beige georgette with a corsage of Ophelia rosebuds.

Mrs. Stoll is formerly of Xenia and Dayton and is a graduate of the 1923 Class of Xenia High School. She was dental assistant to Dr. J. R. McCormick of this city. She is a member of Alpha Theta Chi at Dayton, Delta Theta Tau Sorority of Xenia.

The couple will make their home with the bride's parents at Christiansburg, O.

ALLETOWN HAS FLOWER DECORATED LIGHTS-KIWANIS SAYS WHY NOT XENIA?

Allentown, Pa., as shown in the accompanying picture, not only has a boulevard lighting system but decorates the lamp posts with flower boxes.

Xenia will at least have the lights if the campaign being conducted by the Kiwanis Club meets with success. Committees that canvassed merchants and property owners on the four squares north, south, east and west of Main and Detroit Streets will report to the club Tuesday night.

Expression of property holders has been so favorable to the project, that Kiwanians believe their idea will be successful. Consent of more than seventy-five per cent of the property owners has been obtained. It is said, although committees hope to make the sentiment 100 per cent.

Suggestion that Xenia follow Allentown in using flowers to decorate the lamp posts, may be broached when the program gains headway. Cost of installing the boulevard lights will be assessed against the merchants and city commission will probably be asked to pass an ordinance providing the lights if the project is favored.

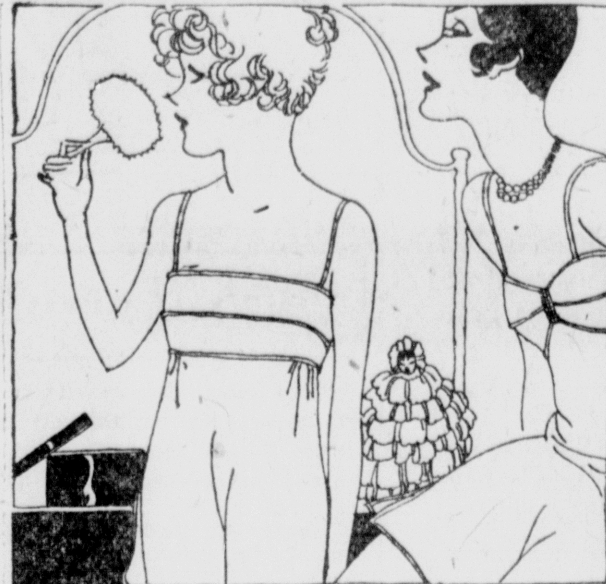

Cost of establishment and maintenance is estimated at ninety cents a front foot a year.

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

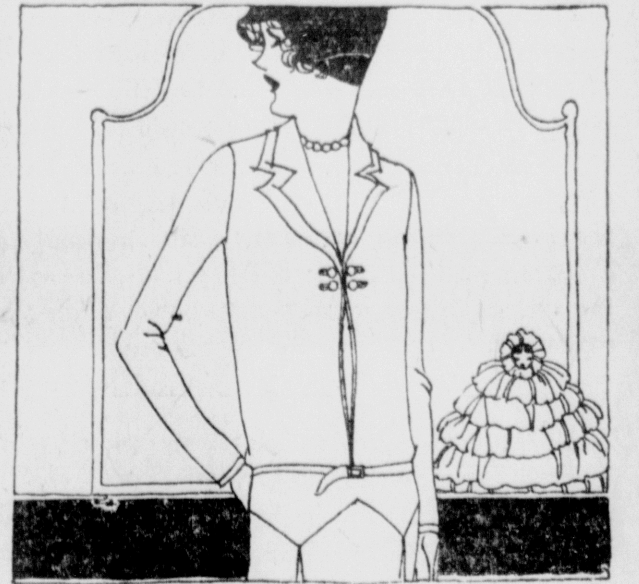

Paris.—Potage Medici is the specialty of the well known cafe of the same name, a rendezvous of many students in the Latin Quarter. Cook in boiling water for about one hour, one pound of peas, a few new carrots and a little sorrel. When tender pass through a sieve and moisten with enough bouillon or milk to make a soup. Season and let boil. When ready to serve bind with the yolks of two eggs and a cup of double cream.

MODISH MITZI—When Fashions Come All-Of-A-Piece

By JAY V. JAY

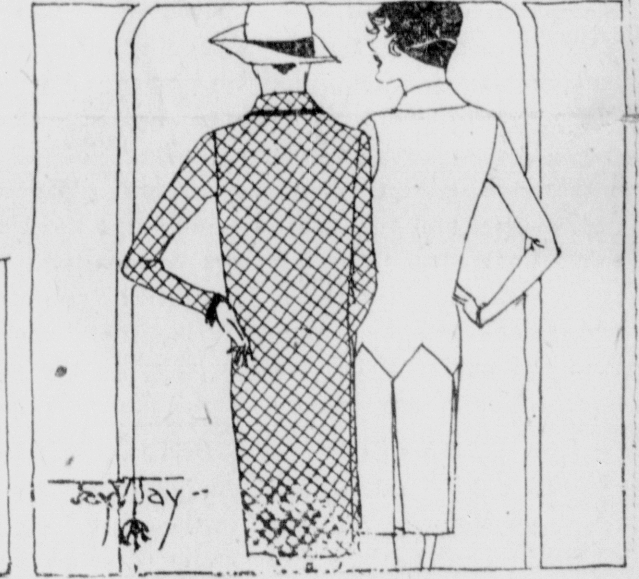

This is the newest development in underwear-all-of-a-piece. It—or they—is—or are a brassiere and chemise or glove silk guaranteed to occupy the minimum of space underneath a fashionable gown. When it is modish to be slim every layer counts.

Polly's dress is all-of-a-piece, too. It guilefully pretends to be a coat with an underblouse or dress. Nothing of the sort. It is a velveteen frock with underlayers of white silk pique. The skirt has inverted pleats on each side.

Mitzi's dress is also a one-piece affair. Hers is of tweed and looks even more like a wrap than Polly's does. The high-necked blouse is no blouse at all, but only a stitched-in vest of tan silk to match the flecks of tan in the tweed.

There's nothing remarkable about the backs of the frocks except perhaps the fact that there is nothing remarkable about them. It's a rare dress that has no back trimming and when this does occur it occurs invariably in tailored wear.

FEWER FIRES IN EUROPE.

THE United States destroys more than five times as much property by fire as do European countries, to say nothing of the thousands of lives snuffed out annually. European countries have laws dating back to the Code Napoleon making the tenant or owner of a building liable for fires caused by negligence.

W. E. Mallahan, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, who has recently returned from an extensive study of fire insurance problems in Europe, observes:

"Perhaps in order to reduce losses on this continent to a less reprehensible figure, it may become necessary to supplement the extensive fire prevention work of fire insurance companies co-operating with many civic bodies, by the widespread enactment and enforcement of personal liability acts, such as already exist in some of our cities. If the man who caused fire by his carelessness or negligence were looked upon, not as an unfortunate, but as one guilty of misdemeanor and subjected to a fine, as he is under the Napoleonic law, doubtless we would all be more heedful."

Fire Prevention Week will be observed nationally from October 5 to 10. It is safe to predict that there will be fewer fires during this week than normally. Instead of dropping back into our old habit of "fire carelessness," at the end of the week, why not continue fire prevention as a national habit?

THE American Automobile Association predicts a nationwide abolition of plain-clothes speed cops within a few years. The prediction is based on a gradual disuse of uniformed officers of the cities and larger towns and increasing public sentiment against plain-clothes methods of enforcing traffic laws.

Opposition to plain-clothes speed cops resulted largely from the general belief on the part of the public that where uniforms were discarded arrests were made less for enforcement purposes than for financial gain for constables, magistrates and communities. Where traffic officers are not in uniform it arouses the suspicion that officers are more intent on making arrests than on preventing violations of the law.

Public authorities must never lose sight of the fact that automobile owners are taxpayers and citizens just as are pedestrians, and that traffic regulations are for the protection of the people not for their persecution. The motorist has just as much at stake, in traffic conditions as the pedestrians and the community in general and surely more than the traffic officer who is as much the servant of the motorist as of any other citizen.

THE OBJECT OF POLITICAL LIFE.

IT IS a long established maxim that "the office should seek the man, not the man the office." It is evident that it is directed against the men who try to fatten upon the commonwealth for their own advantage; who strive to win public station simply for the profit or notoriety that office confers. But we must be careful not to use the maxim so as to discourage the wise and good who often shun the service of the community for fear of being thought to seek it improperly.

We are all of us too much inclined to think of public office as meaning, not something to do, but something to get. We do not say it out loud; we do not even admit it to ourselves. But instinctively we consider that a man who has been useful in other lines, to his party, to his neighbors, to his church, ought to be rewarded by being sent to the legislature or to Congress, or by giving him some executive office, quite without regard to his training or fitness for those public functions.

Now the care and government of the community is the greatest burden, the greatest responsibility, that can possibly be imposed upon any man. Praise, honor and reward may follow the successful discharge of that responsibility. They are not the first consideration; they are not taken into account by any man who is really fit to take the responsibility upon him. The question that such a man asks is, have I the powers and gifts that would make me useful to my country, and am I eager to devote those powers and gifts to that service? If he does not think so, rather than of any honor or reward, he is not the man the country wants, not the man it can afford to call upon.

If, then, it is understood that public office means duty, not glory, why should a man not seek it? The question is not whether he seeks or whether he shuns, but whether he is fit. When you find a man whom you believe thoroughly able to perform a great public duty, and who asks to be allowed to do it, vote for him and be glad you have the chance.

Fire was discovered in the brick laundry building of the O. S. and S. O. Home Tuesday evening. Damage caused was not extensive. While the hose wagon was at the fire at the home, the residence of Cary Hurley, on High Street, was discovered ablaze. The total damage is estimated at $1,000.

John Eckerle, a former Xenian was Tuesday elected mayor of Fostoria, O., at the primary election held in that city. For councilman at large, Dr. Ben R. McClellan, forked ahead and won in the primary election held Tuesday. W. L. Miller for city solicitor and O. B. Kauffman for city treasurer, were nominated to these offices without opposition.

CLEVERNESS AND SINCERITY
One was clever, and one sincere.
One was handsome and one was plain,
One drew laughter and left a tear,
The other winced at another's pain.

And he seemed dull when the clever spoke,
And he seemed slow when the wit began,
For never he sharpened a jibe or joke
To wound the soul of his fellow man.

For he could feel, as it were his own.

The sting of envy and malice keen,
And he knew, ere ever the barb was thrown,
The cruel hurt such a hit would mean.

Now the clever man had a greater fame
For laughter pleases the carefree throng,
But he who toiled with a humble name
Had a truer knowledge of right and wrong.

We laugh at the jibes, be they foul or fair,
We smile when a nimble mind is near,
But of cleverness must we all be ware,
So we give our love to the one sincere.

JUDGE WRIGHT WILL ATTEND MEETING OF HYGIENE COMMITTEE

Probate Judge S. C. Wright expects to attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Mental Hygiene Committee to be held in Springfield, October 14 in connection with the Ohio Welfare Conference meeting, he announced Saturday.

The afternoon program will consist of a report on progress made with the new institutions by the chairman of the committee. Special attention will also be given to the subject of special classes in the public schools.

The main address will be delivered by Dr. Francis N. Maxfield, of Ohio State University, formerly director of special classes for the state department of education in Pennsylvania. His topic will be "The Special Class in the Public School as a Method of Special Control of the Feeble-Minded."

At the close of the discussion a business session will be held at which officers for the ensuing year will be elected and a proposed plan for modification of the state mental hygiene committee will be discussed and acted upon.

Consideration will also be given to a suggestion that local or county committees give major emphasis for the time being to the creation of a more intelligent public opinion concerning various phases of mental hygiene, and where desirable locally, to stimulate interest in special classes and the development of local clinical facilities.

FIRE CHIEF URGES OBSERVANCE OF FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Fire Chief T. B. Claire is directing attention of Xenians to observance of Fire Prevention Week, this week, during which time citizens are asked to exercise special caution in preventing fires.

Chief Claire points out that even a glance at the appalling losses in life and property as a result of fires during the past year should be sufficient to line up every citizen in support of the campaign.

Statistics show that 15,000 persons were burned to death in the United States last year and more than 16,000 suffered injuries as a result of fires. Eighty-seven per cent of the fires were preventable, it is said.

Chief Claire says the average causes of fire are carelessness in the handling of matches, cigars, cigarettes, defective stoves, chimneys and defective electrical wiring equipment. The outstanding cause, however is carelessness, he says.

Although the school room is the most adaptable for sowing the seed of fire prevention, Chief Claire urges plant executives as well to supplement the work of teachers by talks to employees.

All citizens of Xenia are asked to co-operate in the general campaign this week.

CUPID LAZY DURING SEPTEMBER, SHOWN

The month of September was not the popular month it was a year ago for marriage ceremonies, according to the marriage license book in Probate Court.

Fifteen licenses were issued during the past month while twenty-two were obtained during the corresponding month in 1924, the record shows.

Business in the divorce court declined accordingly with marriages during September. Only six divorces were granted during the month, five to women and one to a man, while a seventh divorce request of a woman was refused.

For the third straight month eight suits for divorce were filed in Common Pleas Court in September. The remote member of the household was plaintiff in seven cases and the husband plaintiff in one.

OFFICIALS WILL BE GUESTS OF ROTARY

City officials, city commissioners and firemen will be entertained by the Xenia Rotary Club next Tuesday noon at the weekly luncheon meeting.

Club members will observe Fire Prevention Week, at the meeting and a state fire official from Cincinnati has been engaged to address the meeting. The meeting will be held at the Elks' Club.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Mannering and three young friends have been taken to the police station, their car having crashed into another, mortally injuring a woman. John Mannering, District Attorney, Bob's father, is summoned, and his mother also comes to the station. Mrs. Mannering urges her husband to let their boy go home, but the official, torn between duty and love for his son, refuses. Bob, he says, must stand trial for manslaughter and cannot be released on bail.

In the weary watches of those morning hours John had loved Bob, loved him perhaps more than he had ever loved him before. But in his dispassionate mind love could never alter facts, affection vary the conclusions of logic. Upon the evidence elicited by the authorities his son appeared to be guilty of an offense against the laws of the state for which a punishment was provided. Very well, Bob must suffer it. That it was his son, that it had become his duty to brand as a felon blood of his blood, was an unfortunate circumstance, having nothing whatever to do with the issue. He might grieve, it might rend his heart strings in twain, but even as he had prosecuted other men with never the slightest malice, so he must appear against his own son. Thus did the matter resolve itself in the cold logic of John's mind.

But regardless of the certainty and sureness with which he arrived at this decision, it had not been easy. Now as he raised his head his face was haggard and worn, and as he listened to the monotonous tread of light feet as they pillow was sobbing as though her heart would break. Bob's birthday! How she had looked forward to it! How hard had her unaccustomed fingers labored upon that crocheted bag! How much affection had she bound up with each stitch! With what a wealth of joyous anticipation had she discounted his reception of the gift, with what thrills of expectation awaited his birthday party! And all for what? To lie there in wide eyed wakefulness and think of Diane Bledsoe. She it was who was to blame for it all. She had enticed Bob away. Deliberately led him into trouble. Of this Marjorie was sure. And believing it, she lay there weeping, casting up accounts against the other until she was quite certain in her own mind that were real justice done Diane, rather than Bob, would be in prison, and for a life term, so she could never again inveigle unsuspecting youths into ways they should not go. Yet, certain that no such righteousness would prevail, she grew very miserable indeed, and hated Diane with a mighty hatred for so gentle a soul, until there was not a dry spot on all her pillow.

And the moonbeams searched out Bob, too, that night and found him wakeful. Huddled up on the cot in his cell, his head was buried in his hands. Even as his figure was bathed in the soft moonlight, he looked up. And in his eyes was that bewildered expression, the hurt look of a child who is being punished and does not understand why.

A wakeful night, a wakeful night indeed, for those whose hearts were bound up in Bob Mannering's welfare. And finally wearied by her unending march up and down the room, Eileen stopped, but not to go to bed. Slowly descending the stairs, she entered the living room.

Soft as was her step John heard her and hurried forward to support her faltering form.

"Eileen," he cried, "you must go to bed, dear!"

She shook her head.

"You must try and get some sleep, dear."

"Sleep?" she repeated piteously. "As if I could close my eyes for an instant with Bob in that horrible place."

"I know, dear," he agreed compassionately, "but you must get your rest to keep up your strength. If you are not careful you will be sick."

She gazed at him, indifference displayed in every line of her face.

"What does it matter, John? Without Bob—without my baby—nothing matters. I might as well die."

"But Eileen, you must not give up, darling," he pleaded, his anxiety plain.

"I won't give up," she reassured him. "But John, when I think how happy we have been, how wonderfully happy we were this very day, and then remember how this thing, this dreadful thing, has blotted it all out life does not seem very worth while."

He moved as if to urge her back to her room.

"Rest, dear, rest is what you need above everything else. You want to conserve your strength—build it up if possible. Nothing is to be gained by your staying up this way."

She drew back from him.

"But I can't rest, John. I tell you. I feel as if I ought to be doing something to help Bob."

"There is nothing you can do for him, dear," he said gently.

She faced him, her tones were piteous.

"But you, John. Surely there is something you can do?"

He stood there gazing down at her, and very miserable he looked. Then he slowly shook his head.

There was open disbelief in her look.

"With all your knowledge of law, John—all your experience—can't you think of something?"

Again he slowly shook his head. "And I've heard it said over and over again that you have one of the keenest legal minds in this state."

Now he made no response whatever.

"That you will fight to the last ditch for a client, John."

Still he was silent.

She regarded him wonderingly, as if unable to understand his attitude of silence, his failure to catch her meaning.

PRUGH WILL ASSIST DRIVE FOR PASSAGE OF TAX AMENDMENTS

John W. Prugh, Xenia real estate man, and formerly state director of building and loan associations, has been chosen by the state building and loan association to assist in conducting a state-wide campaign for the adoption of the proposed amendments to the taxation section of the Ohio constitution regarding taxation of intangible property.

Mr. Prugh is working directly under James A. Devine, Columbus, chairman of the committee for the adoption of the proposed amendments, and will make a series of speeches in different Ohio cities this week.

Mr. Prugh will address the Rotary Club of East Liverpool Tuesday night; and civic bodies in Upper Sandusky Wednesday night; Sidney Thursday night and Lebanon Friday. The campaign extends over a four weeks period.

The proposed amendment is relative to the need of adopting a new taxing system for Ohio which will bring more intangible property on the tax duplicate. In several Ohio counties the total bank deposits is said to be much greater than the total return of monies from individuals. This condition, however, is not confined to one or two counties but prevails in a varying degree in practically all counties in the state.

The proposed amendment is said to contemplate placing a lighter tax on intangibles—bank deposits, building and loan assets, and similar forms of property—and endeavoring to bring more of this class of property on the duplicate.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture
BERNARD MACFADDEN

Overfeeding represents perhaps the most prevalent evil among those who are lacking in weight. The average person suffering from emaciation remains in that condition in many cases solely because of the habit of eating more than is needed to nourish the body. And when this is the case to gain in weight lessens the quantity of food by about half, and although the first week there may be indicated a slight decrease in weight, thereafter in nearly every case the weight will gradually increase, and of course with an increase in weight of this character there will also be an increase in general vitality and functional vigor.

Of course, some cases are due to lack of sufficient nourishment. Starvation does sometimes occur. But in our modern civilization, it is indeed a rare phenomenon; and in the vast majority of cases, emaciation has been induced by excessive eating, and not the reverse.

Diet and exercise are the chief factors in gaining weight. There are many articles of diet which possess flesh-forming qualities, among which may be mentioned, peas, beans, lentils and legumes in general. Most of the cereals particularly wheat, oats and corn, and bread and other preparations into which they enter in their natural, unbleached and unadulterated state, are likewise valuable in this respect. Also many of the starchy foods, like potatoes, when properly combined with other materials richer in protein, such as milk, cheese and eggs, are of value. Nuts of every sort are useful in this respect, as are sweetmeats and other products of sugar which are free from adulteration; also all sorts of fresh and preserved fruits. Olive oil, if it is relished, should be used plentifully on salads. One might even form the habit of drinking a teaspoonful of olive oil at different times during the day.

To those who insist on the use of meat as an article of diet, and who do not feel that they are well nourished otherwise, it may be stated that fat meats are not the most productive source of bodily tissue. Lean, well-cooked beef is best adapted for use in the mixed meat-and-vegetable diet.

Many favor the use of raw eggs for gaining weight. They can, of course, be combined with the ordinary foods with advantage.

ANDREW JACKSON, CED ARVILLE, BREAKS INTO PUBLIC PRINT AT COLUMBUS RACES

The visit of Andrew Jackson, venerable Cedarville resident, and father of County Treasurer F. A. Jackson to the Grand Circuit race meeting in Columbus, this week, was the subject of a feature story, sent out by a Columbus scribe.

The story follows:

In former years, widely known in trotting circles, and also prominent in the Grand Army of the Republic and in the Ohio legislature, first as a member of the latter body and later as one of its chief officials, Andrew Jackson of Cedarville, Greene County, 82 years "young," direct lineal descendant of that rugged character of American history, Gen. Andrew Jackson, was in Columbus during the past week, attending the grand circuit races, and renewing acquaintances at the state capital, where, for many years, he was an outstanding figure.

Early in life, "Andy," the patronymic appellation generally given him, became a horseman, going into the business of breeding and racing trotters, and also acting as starter of races on many tracks throughout the state. For six years he served as starter at races at the state fair at Columbus. Old county fair men remembered him as a starter of years ago at their fairs. He gave up active connection with the race track a dozen or more years ago.

It is seldom that horsemen show any predilection for politics, but "Andy," an exception to the rule, took to politics as naturally as a duck takes to water, making politics more of a vocation than an avocation. From 1883 to 1892, he was a member of the house of representatives from Greene County, and upon expiration of his tenure as such he was elected sergeant-at-arms of the house, serving as such for twelve years.

Possessing some of the traits which distinguished his illustrious forbear, "Old Hickory," for whom he was named, "Andy" enlisted in the Union army, serving in the 6th Ohio, and during the exchange of "courtesies" between the wearers of the Blue and the wearers of the Grey at Parryville, Ky., he received before he was 19 years of age, a wound in his shoulder. As a veteran of the Civil War, "Andy" was made a member of the Ohio Chickamauga Battlefield commission by the governor of the state.

You would never take "Andy" to be 82. He would pass for 60, and that's no helping of pear preserves or any of its allied delectable concomitants. He has a complexion—ruddy and fresh looking—that a young swain would envy. Of medium height, and build, he has a well knit figure, straight as an arrow. He dresses in good taste. When he was at the state house there was always a pretty flower in his buttonhole.

At the Neil House "Andy" was seen by a newspaper man who asked him if he got as much excitement and thrills out of present day racing as he did in the old days. At the time he was in conversation with Dr. Alfred Robinson, of Ironton, present sergeant at arms of the house, and who was a great buddy of "Andy's" in the general assembly more than a generation ago, the doctor then being a member of that body from Lawrence County. This was when the brilliant and fiery Fraker was governor. "Andy" and the doctor were talking over old times when the newspaper man butted in.

"No, I do not get the thrills from present day trotting that I used to get in former years," said "Andy." "The rules and ways of racing are different now. We used to start our horses from the mile post only and the distance to be raced would be one mile, but now their starting them from the five-eighths, the three-quarters, and one-fourth mile posts and to me this takes away much of the interest and the thrills we got from the old time way of racing. It used to be that it would take three heats out of five to win and I have had horses that have been in as many as eight heats in a race. Now two heats out of three is the rule. What are some of my favorites of the past? They are Goldsmith Maid, Jay Eye-See and Maud S.—all great champions—whose memories call up the classics which so stirred the hearts of lovers of horse flesh in the old days."

GEORGE A. RUGMAN IS DEAD OF INJURIES FROM AUTO CRASH

George A. Rugman, 18, Fairfield Pike, died at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Sunday morning at 12:20, from injuries received in an automobile accident on the Dayton and Xenia Pike, nine miles from Xenia a week ago.

Rugman received a fractured skull and his condition was critical from the first. He never regained consciousness. The accident occurred when a Chevrolet touring car, occupied by six Antioch College students, is said to have side-swiped a Ford coupe driven by Rugman and occupied by H. C. Layman.

Both automobiles went into the ditch, the Rugman car overturning three times. Layman was not seriously hurt and neither were the college students in the other machine.

Rugman was born in Chillicothe and reached his eighteenth birthday last April. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. William A. Fiste, his step-father and one sister, Miss Elizabeth, at home.

He was a member of the First U. P. Church, this city. Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with interment at Chillicothe.

SPECIAL SERVICES MARK RALLY DAY AT YELLOW SPRINGS

Featuring the annual rally day program given by the Sunday school of the Presbyterian Church at Yellow Springs Sunday were two unusually interesting services. The Park Presbyterian Church vested choir of Dayton gave a sacred concert during the morning and night services.

The theme of "Seed Time and Harvest" was worked out in the rally day program with special characterizations of the Sower, the Cultivator, the Reaper and the Harvest. This program was well received and the presentation was good.

A fair sized audience attended despite threatening weather.

The concert presented was "The Holy City," by A. R. Gaul, under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Wirsching with Miss Ruth Service at the organ. Regular services were held in the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday at Yellow Springs with the exception of in the evening when there was no preaching in order that members of the congregation could attend the sacred concert at the Presbyterian church.

HOW "E" BRAND SWEET CORN IS PACKED

THIS YEAR'S PACKING NOW ON THE MARKET

COMPARE IT WITH THE HIGHEST PRICED CORN ON THE MARKET—THEN REMEMBER THAT IT COSTS ONLY 15c. A CAN

"DO you mean to say that I can get canned corn that is as clean, as carefully selected and as fine flavored as any cooked in my own kitchen?"

"YES, Mrs. Housekeeper, that is just what we mean to say. If we could personally conduct you through the plant where our "E" BRAND SWEET CORN is packed this is what you would find."

THAT the selection of "E" BRAND SWEET CORN starts at the soil, because corn chosen for canning under this label is grown in river bottom lands where the rich, black soil makes it fine and juicy with a noticeably better flavor. It is gathered just at the time when the grain are tenderest and brimming with milk. At the cannery, women stand at the chutes where the husked ears come in and inspect every ear to see that it is sound and tender. It must then pass a second inspection at the hands of an expert before it goes to the big revolving iron cage where streams of water play upon it as it rolls over and over, making it impossible for any bug or worm to remain on the corn. After this complete washing no hands touch the corn until you open your can. The most complete modern machinery it is possible to obtain, cuts the corn from the cob; sifts out all silks and bits of cob, fills and seals the cans ready for cooking in the huge steam vats and finally labels the shining cans ready for shipment to your kitchen. The entire process is immaculately clean and careful.

THE minute you taste "E" BRAND SWEET CORN you note that it is sweeter than other canned corn. This is because a special amount of sugar is used in the canning.

IT TASTES JUST LIKE HOME COOKED. TRY IT.
